In 1995, the Secondary School and the local Vocational School amalgamated with St. Nathy's Diocesan Secondary School on the original St. Nathy's campus.

The Sisters taught in St. Francis Xavier's Primary School until 1991. It then amalgamated with St. John's Boys' National School to form St. Attracta's National School under the trusteeship of the Diocese of Achonry.

In the nineties, some Sisters moved to a bungalow called Árd Na Gaoithe while others continued to work in the area of Family Ministry in the Convent. Later the Convent property was put up for sale and a new house called Mercyville was built. Some Sisters lived there until 2015.
